

From Scheibler to POLMO

TWO NEW EVENT SPACES IN LODZ

Lodz.
A city that has always made history.

In the heart of a city that shaped Polish industry for decades, CFI Hotels Group is creating meeting places where history, architecture and modern hospitality come together.

Two new event spaces have joined the group portfolio, each rooted directly in the industrial heritage of Lodz.

1855

In 1855, Karol Scheibler, known as the cotton king, opened his own spinning mill at Wodny Rynek in Lodz, today Plac Zwyciestwa 2. It marked the beginning of his textile empire.

1908

The history of the Lodz Automotive Accessories Factory, FOS Polmo, at 99 Przybyszewskiego Street dates back to 1908. It began as a foundry, entered the automotive sector in 1929 and operated independently from 1945.

99Hz

A modern event space with an automotive past

01

99Hz is an elegant conference and event space located inside Citi Hotel's Lodz at 99 Przybyszewskiego Street.

The venue was created on the site of the former POLMO automotive works, for many years an important part of the city industrial history.

This heritage is reflected in the interior, where distinctive metal details refer to the automotive past of the location.

Modern architecture, professional multimedia facilities and direct access to 114 rooms at Citi Hotel's Lodz create a complete solution for conferences, trainings, galas, banquets and corporate events.

It is a space designed for those who expect more than a standard conference room.

Industrial elegance in the historic Scheibler Central Complex

02

At Plac Zwyciestwa 2, one of the most distinctive places on the map of Lodz awaits.

Tektura by Farina Bianco is located in the historic complex of Karol Scheibler former cotton factory, known as Centrala.

Built between 1855 and 1870, the complex is one of the city most important industrial monuments and a symbol of Lodz entrepreneurship and industrial growth.

Today, the restored interiors impress with authentic brick, monumental glazing and a one-of-a-kind atmosphere, creating an ideal backdrop for galas, product launches, conferences, banquets and private events.
